

MINERS ARE IN EXILE

Ninety-one Union Men Unloaded From Santa Fe Train on Prairie.

MUST SHIFT FOR THEMSELVES

Given Orders by Kansas Authorities Not to Cross State Line.

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, COLO., June 11.—A special to the Post from Holly, Colo., says: With a partying volley of rifle bullets fired over their heads by the militia and deputies to warn them to hurry eastward as fast as their legs could carry them and never again to set foot on Colorado soil, ninety-one union miners from the Cripple Creek district were unloaded from a special Santa Fe train on the prairie to-day, one-half mile from the Colorado-Kansas State line, and left to shift for themselves.

When the special train, bearing the deported men, was within half a mile of the Kansas line, it was stopped by Sheriff Brady, of Hamilton county, and forty deputies, who notified Lieutenant Cole that under no circumstances would the train be allowed to cross the Kansas line, and further, that the deported men were not wanted in Kansas. Lieutenant Cole assured the sheriff that the train would proceed no further. Then the order to quit the train was given in a hurry. Sheriff Brady called for the leaders of the unionists and notified them that they must not cross the Kansas line.

LEFT ON PRAIRIE.

The exiles were disembarked in haste and without ceremony. "Hurry up there, you fellows," cried Lieutenant Cole, when the train stopped in the middle of alkali and dunes that dot the prairie near the Kansas line. "We have not got any time to waste out here."

The special train had no sooner come to a standstill when the car doors were unlocked and thrown open, then the order was given by Lieutenant Cole for the exiles to leave the train.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

The men were left on the prairie, without food or water, for the soldiers and deputies, in their haste to get home, had forgotten to unload the small stock of commissary supplies the train carried when it left Victor. The exiles were a cheerless lot indeed. Without even a light, and miles from the nearest habitation, they huddled together in groups on either side of the Santa Fe track and discussed their plight. Sheriff Jack Brady and his deputies were on hand to prevent the deported men from remaining in Kansas. Warned by the Kansas authorities that they would not be allowed to seek refuge in the State, the spirit of the men broke. Many of them finally walked back on the railroad track to Holly, where they were furnished food by the Big Salvation Army station there.

"Step lively, you fellows, step lively," admonished Deputy Benton, who was in command of the civil force of the expedition, and in less time than it takes to fill it the three cars were emptied of their unfortunate and unwilling passengers and had started back to Lajunta.

SOW SO YOU MAY REAP

—on fertile ground, where watchful care will make the money grow.

This is a business age. It is a strenuous age of great commercial activity. Success and wealth await all who earnestly, intelligently, persistently strive to attain them. Capital is necessary. A bank account is indispensable. No man knows when his opportunity may come. If he is prepared with a snug sum in our savings department, he can grasp the chance and reap a golden harvest of success.

Prepare yourself now! If out of town, write us and learn how to bank by mail. It's easy. Anyway, call or write to-day. We pay 8 per cent. interest. Delay means loss.

Planters National Bank,

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT,
TWELFTH AND MAIN STREETS,
RICHMOND, VA.
CAPITAL $300,000.00.
SURPLUS AND PROFITS $225,000.00.

guns ready to open on the enemy, so that there is no reason why the confidence of the leading army officers here should not be held to indicate that good news for Russia can be expected shortly. That news of moment from the front is momentarily expected is shown by the intense feeling both at the War Office and at the winter palace.

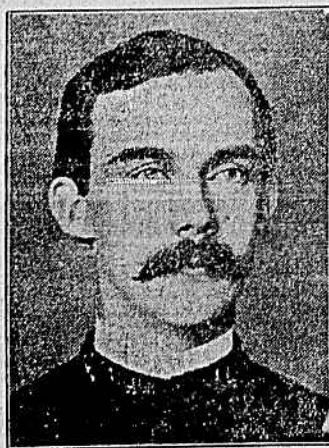

The hitherto unbroken sequence of successes both by sea and by land that the Japanese have enjoyed will, it is hoped, now be broken. In fact, so confident are the Russian officers here that General Kuropatkin will be successful, that they are already figuring on a possible line of march for a Port Arthur relieving army. General Stoessel, commanding the garrison there, has sent word by a courier who made his way through the Japanese lines that with his 25,000 men he can hold out for at least three weeks. It is, therefore, believed that long before that time an army can be placed in the field that will sweep General Oku's army from Khabarovsk and the neck of the peninsula. This latter army, according to present plans will clock to-morrow morning to Olivet Church in New Kent county, where the interment will take place.

Miss Courtney Angus.
Miss Courtney Angus died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of her mother, No. 929 West Grace Street. She was the daughter of Mrs. Laura V. and the late Thomas L. Angus, and was a beautiful and most lovable young lady.

George A. Boisseau.
Mr. George Adrian Boisseau died yesterday at his home, No. 1213 Dance Street. He was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Boisseau, and was in the twenty-ninth year of his age.

H. H. Witherspoon.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., June 11.—Mr. Harrison H. Witherspoon died at his home on Adams Street, in this city, this morning after an illness of many months. Mr. Witherspoon was fifty years old and unmarried. He is survived by two brothers and a sister—Messrs. Charles

CAPTAIN W. M. KING, JR.

LIEUTENANT J. B. BRADY.

LIEUTENANT CHAS. A. WESTON.

be made up of mounted infantry and Cossacks, supported by mountain batteries. The whole army will be commanded by Lieutenant-General Zarembo and will be made up in part of the Second Vechinsk Uralinsk, Second Arginsk, Second Nerchinsk and First Chitinsk, together with detachments of the Third and Fourth Heavy Artillery batteries of Trans-Baikal Cossacks.

SCANDAL PREVAILS.

Russian Army Officers Accused of Fraud in Purchasing Ammunition.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch, Copyright 1904.)

LONDON, June 11.—Letters reaching here from St. Petersburg declare that deep gloom is the order at the Russian capital, and that as a result many of the leaders of the social element have left their country houses. The health of the Czarina is causing her physicians much worry. Her nerves are so shattered by the recent Russian disasters that all of her intimates have been warned not to discuss the war in her presence.

In front of the army, utilized at present as a scouting corps, are perhaps a thousand Cossacks, while sixteen battalions of the Tenth and Seventeenth Corps are spread fan shape as flank guards. Thus there are fully one hundred thousand men stripped of their weapons, and counting the field guns mounted in the permanent defenses at Liao Yang, 250

D. and Alfred Witherspoon and Miss Sallie Witherspoon.

Miss Mattie R. McLaurine.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BALTIMORE, VA., June 10.—The remains of Miss Mattie R. McLaurine, who died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McLaurine, of Washington, D. C., were interred to-day at K. Morlan Cemetery. Her death was a great shock to her friends and relatives in this community, where she was accustomed to spend part of her time. Cut down in the bloom of young womanhood, her death was, indeed, a sad one. She was a most lovable character and a young woman of many accomplishments.

William T. Wiltshire.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., June 11.—Mr. William T. Wiltshire, of this city, died at the home of his son, Mr. P. R. Wiltshire, in Hanover county, while on a visit there. He was sixty-four years old, and is survived by his wife and six grown children. Mr. Wiltshire was a brave Confederate soldier. His remains were brought here to-day and the funeral took place from the Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. A. A. Williams, the pastor. Interment in the City Cemetery.

James S. Burruss.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PAMUNTY CITY, VA., June 11.—Mr. James S. Burruss, who was reared here, died suddenly yesterday morning at his home in Washington, D. C., aged sixty years. He was a brother of Mrs. S. R. Franklin, of this town, and an uncle of Rev. J. H. Franklin, of Muskogee, Indian Territory. He lived in Petersburg for some years, where he married Miss Annie Page, who, with two sons, survives him.

Mr. Burruss had spent the last twenty-five years in Washington. His remains will be taken to Petersburg for interment to-day.

Hazel W. Stennett.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., June 11.—Hazel W. Stennett, twenty-two years old, died here to-day of consumption. He was a member of the Huntington Rifles and will be buried with military honors.

DEATHS.
ANGUS.—Died June 11th at 3:30 P. M., at the residence of her mother, 929 West Grace Street, COURTNEY ANGUS, daughter of Laura V. and the late Thomas L. Angus.

BOISSEAU.—Died at the residence of his parents, No. 1213 Dance Street, Richmond, Va., at 6:15 o'clock P. M., Saturday, June 11, 1904, GEORGE ADRIAN BOISSEAU, in the twenty-ninth year of his age.

Funeral from the above residence MONDAY, June 13th, at 10 o'clock A. M., Petersburg, Va., and Syracuse, N. Y., papers please copy.

Mr. Carrington Returns.
Mr. Peyton R. Carrington has returned from a delightful visit of two weeks at "The Hill," the hospital Stokes residence.

OBITUARY.
Miss Mary C. Binns.
After an illness of several days, Miss Mary C. Binns died at 9:50 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of Mr. Berkeley Goode, No. 2703 East Franklin Street.

Miss Binns was a sister of Mrs. A. F. Seiden, Miss Martha Binns, Mr. W. E. Binns, of Providence, R. I., Mr. C. H. Binns, of Newport News, and Mr. H. G. Hollenberg, of New York.

The remains will be taken at 7:45

If you neglect the stomach and bowels you are going to suffer from Nausea, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness, Constipation, Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The Bitters will strengthen the stomach, keep the bowels open and prevent these ailments.

Try a bottle.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

GRAYS TO CELEBRATE

This Crack Company Will Appropriately Observe Sixtieth Anniversary Wednesday.

TO HAVE TARGET PRACTICE

This Will be One of the Features of the West Point Outing.

The approaching celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Company A, Richmond Grays, is being anticipated by active and association members, with great pleasure. This event, looked forward to from one celebration to another, will take place Wednesday of this week, at West Point, as has been the custom for several years.

The natal anniversary of this company is to-day. The company numbers on its roll sixty men, and is constantly receiving applications for membership. It occupies a most important and conspicuous position in the military annals of this State, and no company has done more to add glory and lustre to Virginia's splendid record in the past sixty years than the Grays.

Its quarters are among the handsomest and most comfortable in the city, and in themselves furnish ample temptation to the undeveloped martial spirit of young men.

The cheerfulness with which its members perform their duty was amply displayed when, on last Friday night a week ago, by a practically unanimous vote, they voluntarily decided to participate next September for one week in the maneuvers at Manassas, where a reproduction of the historic battle of Bull Run will take place, engaging the time and labor of thirty thousand men, about one-half from the regular army, the remainder from the National Guard of various States.

After the field manoeuvres at Manassas, the Grays contemplate visiting the World's Fair at St. Louis.

During the past twelve months the company has almost undergone a complete change in men and officers. In fact, all three of its present commissioned officers have been elected since last November.

Captain William M. King, Jr., the present commanding officer of the Grays, was born amidst the inspiring and patriotic environments of Alexandria, Va., and is a brother of J. E. King, captain of the Alexandria Light Infantry, another prominent militia organization.

Captain William M. King first enlisted with the Alexandria Light Infantry in 1892; was appointed corporal, in which capacity he served during the Spanish-American war. After reorganization, he was elected sergeant, and arose to the rank of first lieutenant and adjutant in 1899, and transferred in the latter capacity to the Third Battalion, and in November, 1903, was elected first lieutenant of the Richmond Grays very shortly thereafter succeeding to the captaincy.

First Lieutenant J. B. Brady is a native of Richmond. He began his military career by entering the present company in May, 1900, shortly afterwards being promoted to corporal, sergeant, and, in 1903, to second lieutenant. In January of this year he was honored with the first lieutenancy, an unusually rapid rise.

Lieutenant Charles A. Weston was born in Smithfield, Va. He enlisted in Company H, Fourth Virginia Regiment, in 1892, in the latter part of which year he moved to Richmond, where martial spirit in 1898 again seized him with a desire to follow in the footsteps of his father, a member of Company D (now Company H). On the reorganization of this company after the last war, he was elected sergeant, transferred to the non-commissioned staff as regimental commissary sergeant in 1902, retransferred by his own request to private in Company H, from which he obtained a discharge. He entered the Grays in 1903, and was elected to the post of corporal, sergeant and attained his present high position of second lieutenant in February of this year.

He, too, is an ardent student of military matters; bids fair to make a very promising officer, and is popular with his subordinates.

There will be target practice by active and association members, for which prizes will be offered, as well as medals for attendance during the year. The past celebration of this company have always been a source of great pleasure and success.

COMMITTEE TO MEET.
First Church Said to be Considering Name of Mr. McDaniels.

The Pulpit Committee of the First Baptist Church will meet to-day and will give further consideration to the matter of securing a pastor.

The utmost care is being exerted to prevent any disclosure with reference to the deliberations of the committee. It was officially stated a few days ago that there has been reached as yet no agreement upon any one. Upon the highest authority, however, it may be said that the name of the Rev. G. W. McDaniels, of Dallas, Texas, is very prominent before the committee, and is probably being seriously considered. Mr. McDaniels is a young man, but is declared to be one of the coming powers in the denomination.

MR. KATHERINE MATTHEWS. The above is strictly true.

WILLIAM WHITE. The above refers to the newly discovered Fulton Compounds, the first case of which has ever been reported by Bright's Disease and Diabetes. We are the sole agents. Ask for pamphlet. Owens and Alder Drug Company, Richmond, Va.

Rothert and Company

No Lower Prices Anywhere for Good Furniture.

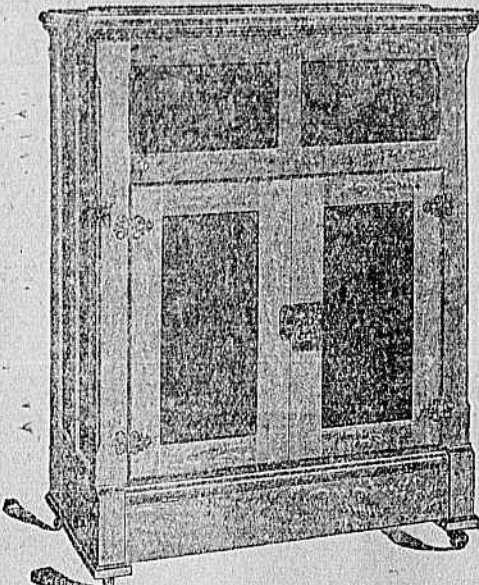

That statement means exactly what it says. This city has never had such excellence in Furniture offered at prices so advantageous to the shopper. Anything and everything needed at home can be found here.

LITTLE PAYMENTS

HELP YOU TO GET EXACTLY WHAT YOU WANT.

Monarch!

Best of all.
Always right.
A good Refrigerator at a moderate cost.
We back up every one with our guarantee.
Ask any one in your block—they know.

Monarch!

Best by test.
Uses less ice than any other, and that's a strong point why you should use a Monarch Refrigerator.
And the price.
Well, let us show them to you.

GAS RANGES: FIRE KING, NOVELTY AND IMPERIAL.

Mattings, Rugs, Wickless Oil Stoves and Ovens, Porch Settees and Rockers, Swing Chairs, Iron Beds, Couches, Springs and Mattresses.

Rothert & Co.

Fourth and Broad Streets.

MR. AND MRS. WEST CHARMING HOSTS

Richmond Society Delightfully Entertained in Historic Home.

Tuckahoe, with its beautiful old mansion, its lovely lawn and its stately avenue of elms, was the center of interest towards which the fashionable world of Richmond bent its steps last afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. West threw wide the hospitable doors of a home which for two hundred and sixty-one years has been renowned for all that is best and truest in Virginia social life, and for several hours Richmond society was entertained with a lavishness and cordiality that revived the spirit of bygone years.

The house at Tuckahoe is built in the shape of the letter H, and in the salon which makes the connecting link guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. West and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Carrington, of Lynchburg, who were the guests of honor.

Mrs. West looked extremely well in white crepe de chine, ancestral jewels and a lace berthe inherited from her great-grandmother, Mrs. Henry St. George Coaler, wife Judge Coaler, of the Supreme Court of the State.

Mrs. Carrington was charming in white silk mull and Valenciennes lace. Miss Gertrude Pence, who is visiting has unusual talent as a writer of both prose and poetry.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News.

San Francisco, March 10, 1904.

To the Women of Richmond:
Some of you have loved ones stricken with Bright's Disease or Diabetes. Let me give you hope. I can speak because I know. I was stricken with Diabetes myself. Only Diabetes can understand the tortures—the hopelessness. I went to the Women's Hospital (one of our best). They told me I was incurable. I grew worse (sugar was 11 per cent) and went to the Cooper Medical College for examination. Same verdict—incurable. Thoroughly discouraged I went home to die. A Mrs. Clark, then living at 1013 Tarklin Street, called to tell me there was a cure, and where to get it. The third week the dreadful thirst diminished. I began to sleep better and in a year I was perfectly well.

I have a large boarding house on the corner of Powell and Sutter. One of the boarders is William White, formerly city assessor. He had to give up his position, due to Bright's Disease—had been in both St. Luke's Hospital and the Waldeck Sanitarium, without result, when I learned that the trouble was, and told with drooping abdomen was heavy, heart was involved, and he felt sure he could not recover. In a month he began to mend. He is now perfectly well. To the women of America I want to say that Chronic Bright's Disease and Diabetes are positively curable.

Sincerely,
MR. KATHERINE MATTHEWS.

The above refers to the newly discovered Fulton Compounds, the first case of which has ever been reported by Bright's Disease and Diabetes. We are the sole agents. Ask for pamphlet. Owens and Alder Drug Company, Richmond, Va.

factory results from the use of Perkins' writes at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A POLICEMAN IN CONTEMPT
Charges Against Him Dismissed, But He Tries to Strike the Prisoner.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., June 11.—Some very damaging testimony was brought out in the investigation before the Mayor to-day

Soldiers' Home, was seriously injured to-day by falling and striking his head on the sharp point of an iron railing. His skull is thought to have been fractured. How the accident occurred is unknown, as he only has recovered consciousness sufficiently to give his name.

Removal of Office.
General Freight Agent Charles R. Capps, of the Seaboard Air Line, has announced that he will remove his office from the old location to the new building at 1718 to 1722 by Mrs. Robert P. Hamilton and Mrs. Thomas S. Armistead.

The massive mahogany table in the dining room was ablaze with white waxen tapers in tall silver candelabra, shaded in flame. A great silver urn in the center of the table held a sheaf of fragrant white carnations.

Dainty refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Henry Heard Vaden, Mrs. Edward D. Price, Mrs. J. A. Warren and Mrs. Henry Lee Valentine, assisted by Misses Carrie and Gertrude Pence, of Timberville; Miss Estelle Betton Chapman, of Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Ophelia Perceval, of Petersburg; Miss Mary Patton Wilson, of Newport News; Miss Florence Wilson, of Lynchburg; Misses Julia and Edith Grant, of Grantland; Miss Blanches Parsons, of Vinita; Miss Lucy Fitzhugh, of Lorraine; Miss Sue Gordon, of Williamsburg; Miss Lizzie Andrews, Miss Margaret Ward Weddell, Miss Agnes McCarthy, Miss Elizabeth Holmes, Miss Elie and Amy Werth, Misses Lucy and Emily Armistead, Misses Mary, Fannie and Lissa Archer, Miss Lucy Christian, Miss Withers Wright, Miss Berta Vellford, Miss Lucy March, Miss Evelyn Gordon, and Louise Stager, of Richmond; Miss Rosa Stevenson, Miss Mary Carter